

Practitioner Corner:

The Greatest Journey

by Susana Sorí

Over the years, I have offered many courses and supported many people in moving through life's transitions with knowledge, grace, courage and ease. All of these are very much needed in addressing the dying process for a loved one or a patient.

I am truly excited to teach a course that is an experiential and practical immersion in the knowledge and understanding of life's journey and its final transition. I am given the opportunity to pass on knowledge that is ground breaking in its scope - the practical and tangible tools of a true friend, including the Great Death Rites practiced by the shamanic traditions, and the energetic, emotional and spiritual preparation for both the dying person and their family.

The grounding, practical tools and understanding gained in this course frees you to truly be there for others from a deep level of trust and knowing.

This course as a continuing nursing education activity was approved for 13.0 Contact Hours by the Florida Nurses Association an approved provider of the Florida Board of Nursing 50-3103.

Would you like to make the difference in someone's life journey?

"Dying Consciously: The Greatest Journey"

is a unique and unprecedented program that is vital to everyone. It directly addresses two very important needs:

- It gives the practical knowledge and energetic tools needed to more fully support those in their final transition at a core level. Based on ancient shamanic techniques, the tools and understanding gained in this course frees you to offer support across the whole spectrum, from helping people at all stages of their process, and very profoundly, at the energetic and spiritual levels.
- Most importantly, this course is an invitation to live life in greater awareness of your energy and spirit. The participant in the course is given the opportunity to experience first hand their own luminous energy field - the direct experience that you are not just your body, but something greater and more lasting.

Susana Sorí is a Certified Teacher of 'Dying Consciously: The Greatest Journey' for the Institute for Energy Medicine, The Four Winds Society. An accomplished healer and

Practitioner Corner:

The Greatest Journey by Susana Sorí

educator, her focus is to free her clients from the obstacles and issues that hold them back, supporting the client's positive shift at the physical, energetic, soul or spiritual level.

Susana has that rare quality that combines both a profound and deep understanding of her subject with a warm, compassionate and engaging personal style. An expert in her field, she brings a great depth of knowledge that combines both the traditions of the East with the native traditions of the Americas.

For more information about the course, including dates of the next offering:

Contact Susana at 305 866-9396 or visit:

www.spiritunleashed.com.