

Practitioner Corner:

Life is a Dance

by Christelle Chopard

I developed the Dharmi Program 12 years ago, after 6 years of intense studies in Switzerland and France, and encountering many enlightening experiences with shamans, indigenous peoples, healers, gurus, and teachers in Asia, Australia and South America.

When I arrived in the sacred mountain of Condor Blanco, I knew that it was the time to deepen my research, visions, and create the Dharmi Program. I lived there for 2 years and then began to teach in South, Central, North America and Switzerland.

The Dharmi Program consists of determining behavioral patterns that I have named the Dharmi Focus. We consider our masks in a holistic way that connects us to our beliefs (intelligence memory), emotional memories, physical symptom, and behavior (reaction).

The emotional memory and intelligence memories are present in our cell memory (physical manifestation). Some situations in life trigger specific "masks" that we have developed through time (this life and/or past lives); with the repetition of certain experiences or the intensity of some of them. We "are convinced" that this is Our Reality, and our only choice.

The Dharmi program, open infinite possibilities, and reminds you of certain aspects of yourself that you know but may have forgotten or haven't been honoring. It is a way to enter into Dharma.

Program themes that are considered in the consulting and trainings offered include: Projection, Point of Reference, Actual Potential / Basic Potential, Auto- Programming and Conditioning, and the cycle of Creativity.

After the clarification of the Dharmi Focus, we enter in the Dharmi Cycle, which is a cycle of visualization and energy work to empower our potential, and to enlighten the power that we have repressed under the "mask", we can then train a "new muscle", another way of being and expressing our self.

"We are everything pretending to be somebody!" In these programs you will connect to the source of creation, essence (5th element: ether) and to the way of manifestation through the 4 elements (earth, water, fire, air).

The next seminar begins on July 10th, and ends on August 29th. It provides 25 hours of Continuing Education for licensed therapists in Florida (20 general hours and 5 professional ethics). It is organized in 5 classes of 4-5 hours, each one considers one element.
